

Barnlund

Why is knowing a language not enough to communicate with those who talk that language? What does Barnlund suggest we need to do in addition to learning the language itself?

What do you think Barnlund would say about a group in Japan designing a socially interactive robot for an elderly nursing home in the United States?